Introduction

The Master of Science (M.Sc.) programme in MIS is intended for students who want to obtain specialised education in Management Information Systems and the use of Information Technologies in business for strategic decision making. This course is intended to develop competence necessary for the effective management of information systems and technology and to develop the research and analytical skills necessary to deal with various technical problems in MIS in business organisations and to foster the analytical ability and management skills of the student, especially in the field of IT.

General Information

The waves of Globalisation of knowledge, its expansion and dissemination have brought a radical shift in the concept of University. A further shift is registered in dismantling the age-old notion that the state alone is to shoulder the burden of tertiary education and accommodating the private universities to share this national duty, of course, without making any compromise in academic excellence and other matrices of university education.

Metropolitan University joins this historic shift to bring quality university education at affordable cost to the doorsteps of the students. Under the leadership of Dr. Toufique Rahman Chowdhury, Founder Chairman, Board of Trustees and with the approval of the Ministry of Education under the Private University Act of 1992 (which was amended in 1998) Metropolitan University came into being on 3rd May 2003. Metropolitan University (MU) is situated in Sylhet, Bangladesh.

Career Opportunity

MIS graduates have a wide variety of career open to them, with new forms of specialisation opening up regularly in response to new challenges. In almost every sector of our economy, one finds people grappling with problems with information management.
